

Contents

1. Face-to-face meetings in a changing world 8

Example 1: Customer empowerment

Example 2: Information excess

Example 3: Increasing supplier-customer integration

Winning the battle for customer time

A trade show is a logical meeting place

2. Harnessing the power of trade shows 16

Trade Show intelligence

Make a lasting impression on attendees

Keep sight of the big picture

3. Goals and planning 22

Exhibit strategy

The strategies you choose have direct consequence on your subsequent decisions

Think widely

Rain makes you wet

Measurable and realistic goals

Get internal support for your goals

4. Invite people to your booth 30

Create a presence before the show

Who do you want to meet in your booth?

What demands do you place on your meeting situation?

Have a clear message in all your invitations

Stand out and put them in

Swedstyle – the liberator

Set up a VIP program

Create media interest

Draw up your invitation plan

5. The booth 42

Start with your goals

Give your exhibit designer and producer the right prerequisites

Decide on a show theme

Have a clear message and clear graphics

Create a meeting place for the senses

Booth size and location

Create lasting impressions

My product is boring

6. Activities at your booth 56

Start with your goals

Teasers

Product presentations

Product demonstrations

Brochures

Giveaways

Be active in every arena

7. The behavior of your booth personnel 66

Poor behavior

A unique sales situation

Doing the right things and doing things right

A positive attitude

Control the meeting

Attract the person's attention

Interview

Persuade

Decide

Motivating your booth personnel

Treat your booth personnel like VIPs

Practical details

Put someone in charge of the booth

Be a rapidly maneuvered speedboat

Kick off

8. Follow-up 78

A lesson in keeping promises

Lead the contact further up the purchasing ladder

Personal follow-up

Saving a show appearance that failed

9. Evaluation 84

Start with your goals

Fulfillment of objectives

Ways to improve your ROI

Show report

Trade Show intelligence

10. Getting started 92

Think tank

Inspiration and idea generation

Trade Show intelligence

Kick-off

From goals to evaluation

A minimal exhibit budget

References 94